New Quantum School Plans Approved

By SCOTT JACKSON

The Massachusetts School Building Authority this past week approved the preferred schematic design for the new Quantum Elementary School, and preliminary work on site could begin as soon as this summer.

The MSBA's board of directors unanimously voted to approve the preferred schematic design for the school during its meeting on the morning of Feb. 28. The project has an estimated price tag of $107 million, according to the presentation made during the MSBA meeting, and construction costs are expected to total $83 million. The MSBA will reimburse the city for a portion of those costs.

Located on Huckins Avenue, the Quantum Elementary School first opened in 1919 and additions were made in the 1950s and 1970s. The city's plan for replacing the school include retaining the original 1919 section of the building, demolishing the two additions, MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL BUILDING AUTHORITY approved the preferred schematic design for the new Quantum Elementary School Feb. 28. The city plans to keep and renovate the original 1919 section of the building, demolish the later additions, and add new two-story wings on either side and in the rear. An outdoor classroom would be located in the central courtyard.

Public Safety Headquarters Topped Off

By SCOTT JACKSON

A steel beam — painted white and signed by dozens of police officers, firefighters, construction workers, city officials and other members of the project team — was hoisted four stories into the air during a recent topping-off ceremony celebrating a major milestone in the effort to build a new public safety headquarters.

The beam, which was adorned with an American flag and a pine tree for the occasion, was hoisted into place and then secured by ironworkers shortly before 11:30 a.m. on March 1. Dozens gathered that chilly morning to watch the new public safety headquarters, located on Sea Street near the current police headquarters, be topped off.

Manet Board Announces 2024 Officers, New Members

The Manet Community Health (Manet) Board of Directors has announced its slate of officers for 2024, and welcomed returning and new members as they begin the second of a three-year strategic plan for the health center.

The Manet Board of Directors officers for 2024 include: Quincy resident and Chief Financial Officer for Quincy Community Action Programs (QCAP) Grace Murphy-McAuliffe as president; Quincy resident and nurse with a background in health care quality, state public health, cancer prevention and healthcare administration Anita Christie as vice president; Quincy resident and attorney Ivan Wong as secretary and Quincy resident retired attorney/partner of Krokidas & Bluestein Bob Griffin as treasurer.

"As I begin my third year as Board president, I am increasingly inspired by the progress on our Strategic Plan and the work accomplished every day at Manet locations to advance the Manet Mission to deliver quality, accessible and equitable care," Murphy-McAuliffe said. "Simultaneously, Manet sensitively responds to pressing public health and community needs. I eagerly look forward to this year and being alongside an exceptional group of Board Members – a majority of whom are Manet patients who represent the communities we are designated to serve."

In 2024, the Board of Directors remains buoyed by its mission to ensure quality, comprehensive health care for all. With their strategic plan, Affirming and Enhancing our Commitment to Community, as its roadmap and with the recent opening of two new practice locations (Manet at Taunton

Mass. Motor Vehicle Citation Data Report Released

1,270,129 Unique Traffic Stops Conducted During Two-Year Period; 1,358,720 Citations

The Executive Office of Public Safety and Security (EOPSS) has released a public report analyzing two years of motor vehicle citation data conducted by a research team from Salem and Worcester State Universities. The report fulfills a requirement of the 2019 Hands-Free Law (formally known as An Act Requiring the Hands-Free Use of Mobile Telephones While Driving) that prohibits drivers from using electronic devices, including cell phones, unless the device is in hands-free mode.

Pursuant to the law, EOPSS contracted with independent researchers to analyze 2021 and 2022 data maintained by the Registry of Motor Vehicles (RMV) regarding all motor vehicle citations issued by local and state police agencies in Massachusetts. Based on the uniform citation data, the researchers conducted an aggregate analysis of all stopped motorists, including age, gender, and race. The study also reviewed the date and time of the offense, location, whether a search was initiated, and whether the stop resulted in a warning, citation, or arrest.

The two-year report follows the February, 2022 baseline analysis of 2020 uniform citation data conducted by the same research team. The number of citations increased significantly in 2021 and 2022, allowing researchers to compare trends over time and consider more departments that met the minimum threshold of 100 citations. The latest report differentiates between stops and citations. In keeping with best practices, researchers used multiple types of analysis to examine potential racial disparities.

The report analyzed 1,270,129 unique traffic stops conducted during the two-year period, resulting in a total of 1,358,720 citations.

"The hands-free law established a research mandate to gain data-driven insight into police traffic stops and determine whether any patterns indicate racial disparities," said Public Safety and Security Secretary Terrence Reidy. "The study aims to learn more about potential patterns, inform stakeholder discussions, and advance the impartial, equitable, and just enforcement of Massachusetts traffic laws. I commend the research team for their hard work and in-depth analysis."

For the 2021 and 2022

analyses, researchers used multiple types of descriptive and associative statistical analysis.

Researchers conducted three unique statewide analyses and five unique department-level analyses. In each of the 364 departments subject to individual consideration, the first three analytical tools examined potential racial disparities in the decision to stop. The last two examined potential racial disparities in post-stop outcomes, including the decision to issue a warning or a citation and conduct a non-inventory search.

Researchers analyzed stops that occurred at all times of the day and conducted a more focused analysis of stops occurring during the Intertwilight Period (ITP), during which it is light out for some months and dark for others, to better control for demographics of drivers on the road at different times of the day. Researchers used an analytical tool known as "Veil of Darkness" for this portion of the analysis, which presumes that a driver's race is less evident after dark than in the light. The VoD theory states that higher rates of motor vehicle stops of non-white drivers during daylight than after dark are indicative of racial disparities. This analysis of ITP stops was used to identify state and municipal police departments for potential racial disparities.

Beyond the Veil of Darkness analysis, the research report summarized the demographic and contextual characteristics of stop events and cited motorists both statewide as well as individual, department-level analysis for the data collection period.

A detailed list of research findings is available on the EOPSS website. The findings include analytical results at the state and department level, including characteristics of stops, demographics of stopped motorists, and test results for disparities in traffic stop outcomes and the decision to search.

The researchers identified three agencies in 2021 and five agencies in 2022 for potential racial disparities. In the 2021 data analysis, researchers identified Southwick Police Department, Westwood Police Department and Massachusetts State Police Troop C-4. In the 2022 data analysis, researchers identified the Haver Police Department, Ludlow Police Department, Wrentham Police Department, Boston Police Department District E-18, and Massachusetts State Police Troop C-3.

Regarding the 2021 and 2022 findings, the research report states, "We caution that these findings DO NOT prove that any of the listed departments are engaging in racial profiling; there are many explanations for racial disparities in traffic enforcement other than officer bias. These findings simply serve as a starting point for further discussion and reflection."

The report further states, "Additionally, stakeholders are encouraged to consider the other key measures provided in individual department data sheets (and not VoD alone) when starting conversation(s) about racial profiling, acceptable thresholds, and appropriate solutions and responses. VoD is one way of studying the decision to stop, but patterns evident in outcomes (warnings, civil, criminal, arrest citations) and searches vary significantly across agencies and are important to examine in detail, case-by-case as well."

Under the statute, EO-PSS will consult with the Massachusetts Office of the Attorney General to determine the next steps based on research findings, including whether additional data collection or training is required for select law enforcement agencies.

everybody," said Mayor Thomas Koch after the beam was put into place. "This has been a project that's long been thought about. There are a lot of pieces to it. It's complicated. I remember standing across the street on Memorial Day and looking across to this very unsightly scene with the Town River behind it but everything in front of it was nothing to look at.

"At the end of the day really what we're doing here today is sending a real message to our public safety departments — our police and fire departments. This is a real visible sign of the value they have in our community, our value set really as a community in which we hold our public safety officials in really high regard for what they do each and every day having our backs, so we're grateful for them."

The mayor thanked all those who have had a hand in the project — including city officials, members of the project team, the general contractor and union ironworkers — for their efforts.

"I want to say thank you to the team: Paul Hines, our public buildings [commissioner] and his team; Steve Chrusciel from the Chrusciel Group; we've got Kaestle Boos here; we've got Suffolk here; we've got Granite Partners here, Joe Shea and his team; GP East; Local 7, let's hear it for Local 7, great job," Koch said.

"And, I want to thank members of the City Council here behind me today, because none of these projects happen without partnerships and the City Council has been a true partner in all the major projects we've seen. You look across the street, incredible improvements, embellishments, to Mount Wollaston Cemetery, and this beautiful facility. It already looks better than the old station, quite frankly.

"I know we're all looking forward to getting this thing finished up in 2025. As I mentioned, we had an animal shelter to move, we had homeless shelter to move, we had to acquire and dismantle an old veterans post. There are a lot of pieces to this, so I'm really grateful for the team, for all the work that's been done on this. It's going to be something we're all going to be very, very proud of as a community."

Scenes From Yesterday

67271 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
9/28/16 Stayed at Alice's last night - out yachting - had a fine time - looking over the granite quarry today. Ed

THIS 1906 POSTCARD view of Quincy Square was one of the first published after Congress allowed full picture postcards. The backs of the cards were for the address only so messages were written in a white area on the front. On the left in this scene the horses were drinking from a Quincy granite fountain donated by the Village Improvement Association. The elms around the church and city hall were planted during the Civil War. On the right the Quincy and Boston Street Railway Co. had a waiting room for the electric trolleys that provided service to pretty much every corner of Quincy. There were only a handful of automobiles registered in Quincy at this time, but it was only a few years later when this scene would be congested with traffic. Today, no vehicular traffic passes through here as it is part of the Hancock-Adams Common.

Reagan, Kennedy Primary Winners Here

Ronald Reagan, the conservative former governor of California, and Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, won the Republican and Democratic Presidential Primaries respectively here in Quincy.

In the GOP contest, Reagan topped the primary ballot in Quincy with 2,291 votes to 1,572 for George Bush, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency and 1,194 for Illinois Cong. John Anderson.

Statewide, Bush won Massachusetts — one of eight states he would win during the primaries. Reagan would eventually win the Republican nomination winning 44 primary contests. He selected Bush as his running mate for the general election that fall.

On the Democratic side, Kennedy — whose campaign for the White House had staggered nationally in recent months — easily prevailed over President Jimmy Carter in Quincy by a vote of 12,575 to 5,534. The 2 and a half to 1 margin was roughly the same as Kennedy maintained over Carter across the Commonwealth.

Fifty percent of Quincy's registered voters cast ballots, far surpassing the predicted 35 to 40 percent forecast.

CITY FACES SHORTAGE OF POLICE

Chief Francis X. Finn said the Quincy Police Department faced a shortage of 17 patrolmen if he doesn't get a list of eligible men from Civil Service soon, adding the vacancies would cost the city a bundle in summer overtime.

Unless he received a list in a few days, "we could lose the summer and the Police Department could be in real, real financial trouble with next year's budget," Finn told the City Council's Public Safety Committee.

The chief explained it takes a month to investigate the new men and three months to train them for the street. Furthermore, he said, classes could not be conducted during the summer months so, if the delay continues, they might not start until September.

All the while, Finn said he would be paying time and a half overtime to cover them.

Attending Public Board Meetings Educates Citizens

The City's budget is over $300 million dollars. Where and how are these funds spent?

One way to learn about the City's priorities (meaning which items have funding) is to attend the public board meetings. While most of these meetings can be found on the City's site, and the agenda and the minutes are posted, the minutes don't reflect the robust discussions that actually occur at the meetings. You might be surprised at the thoughtful insights of the board members and the depth of the topics covered. I know I was impressed at both the Park and Rec board meetings and the Thomas Crane Library Board meetings that I recently attended.

Did you know that the American Red Cross has updated their Lifeguard Certification standards? This may not be significant to you, but if you are Michelle Hanly, head of Quincy's Recreation department, you not only need to know, but need to have a plan to keep our Quincy kids safe in the water. She will ensure all lifeguards who work at the Lincoln-Hancock Pool and every city run beach this summer are certified on the new standards.

Where did I learn this (and other really interesting things)? By attending the February monthly public board meeting of the Park and Recreation Department. Where is the city considering installing new pickleball courts? That was discussed at the meeting. This idea will be reviewed with 14 other preservation funding requests by the Community Preservation Board on March 21st.

Where can you find the notices of these meetings? Go to the City's website QuincyMA.Gov, select Government option, then on the left side of the page, select public meetings. Again, on the left side of the page, select upcoming meetings. Once you are there, update the month if needed (the default is the current month).

In March, Park and Recreation is meeting at 5 p.m. on the 4th, the Conservation Commission is meeting at 7:30 p.m. on the 6th. The Commission on Disabilities is meeting on the 12th (at 5 p.m.). The Thomas Crane Library Board of Trustees next meeting is 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, March 14th. That one isn't posted on the City web site though, it is posted on the Library Event calendar. Some other groups are a little tougher to find, but a little digging can get you close. The Bicycle Commission hasn't posted yet its February (15th) meeting minutes, but if trends continue, they will meet via zoom on the third Thursday of the month (so March 21st from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.). You will have to wait for the March agenda to be published to get the zoom link, but if you put it in your calendar, you can attend from home! The Affordable Housing Trust Committee is another one you have to dig for, but their next meeting will be a zoom meeting on March 12th at 3 p.m. (Again, the link will be on the March agenda, when it gets posted.)

Why should you attend? It's your tax dollars at work. If you are interested in something, one good way to learn about what the City is currently doing on that topic is to attend the board meetings.

If there isn't any public meetings (I can't find any for the Quincy Trails Committee, or the LGBTQ Commission) you can ask your ward or at-large councillors why these groups are not active and perhaps volunteer to help revive them.

Quincy Votes is a group of people who want to encourage people to not only vote, but to become invested in our community. One way to be involved is to attend a public meeting and learn about how your tax dollars are being used. So, join me! Come to a public meeting and let's learn what is going on in our City together!

Arbella Celebrates Lunar New Year

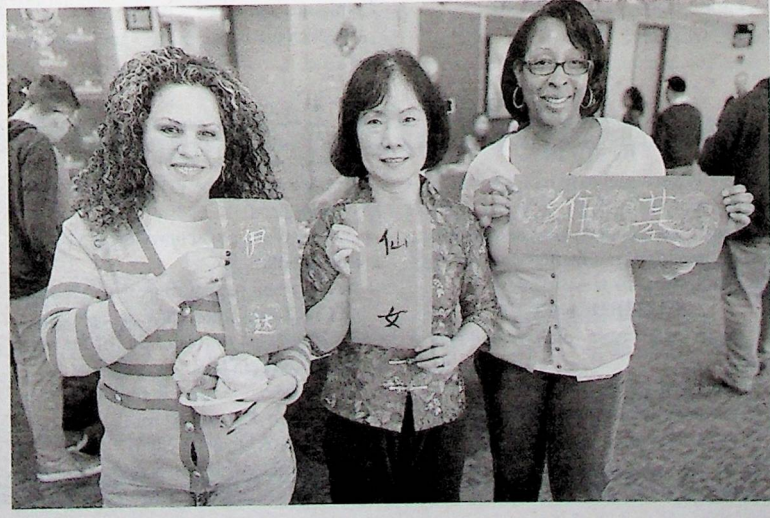

The Arbella office in Quincy was honored to have members from the Wah Lum Kung Fu & Tai Chi Academy of Malden and Quincy celebrate the Lunar New Year with the company Feb. 20.

Arbella is proud to be a best place to work and an inclusive environment and culture for employees who are passionate about bringing their family traditions to others at the company. Arbella wishes a happy new year and a successful Year of the Dragon to all.

"It was a great honor for me and the rest of the Chinese members on our team to have the opportunity to share our most cherished festival and tradition with everyone at the Arbella office in Quincy," said Hugh Thai, AVP, Head of Innovation and Data Science at Arbella Insurance Group. "It was an opportunity for us to bring a piece of our heritage to the workplace and show appreciation for the inclusive environment of different cultures that Arbella has created."

"The outpouring of support for the Lunar New Year celebration this week is what makes the Arbella culture so special and valuable. We look forward to celebrating the Year of the Dragon," Thai added.

Stuffed Meatloaf

By MARIE

Today's recipe for a stuffing-filled meat loaf is one that I have made dozens of times and I have used various ingredients for my filling depending on what was in my cabinets or refrigerator.

I used anything from sausages to asparagus, so you can use any of your favorite stuffing or stuffing mix. Today I am using one of my favorite fillings that my family always loved.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees, prepare a cookie sheet with parchment paper

Ingredients and directions:

Directions and Ingredients:

For the Meatloaf Roll:

1 and ½ pounds beef and pork (I used 1 pound of ground beef and ½ pound of pork but you can use any types of meat and any proportions that you want)

1 egg
1 cup seasoned bread crumbs
2 tablespoons of milk
¼ cup grated cheese (any favorite)

In a bowl, add all of the above ingredients and mix well, set aside until stuffing is made.

For the Stuffing:

1 carrot, finely diced
1 stalk of celery, finely diced
1 onion, finely diced

½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 cup of stuffing mix (I used Pepperidge Farm)
½ cup panko seasoned breadcrumbs
¼ cup parmesan cheese
1 egg slightly beaten
2 sheets of wax paper and a rolling pin

Sauté the vegetables, once sauteed add the rest of the stuffing ingredients and mix well.

Then take the beef mixture and on the 1 sheet of wax paper, place the meat mixture, spread all around the wax paper, then put the second sheet of wax paper on top and, with a rolling pin, roll the meat until 1 inch thick.

Remove top piece of wax paper. Place the stuffing on top of the rolled meat and spread evenly.

Once stuffing is in place start rolling the meat as if you are rolling a jelly roll.

Once rolled, press edges together so they will be secure.

Move this stuffed meatloaf roll to a cookie sheet that has been lined with parchment paper.

Bake at 350 degrees until done – top will be very golden brown and meat is no longer pink when checked by inserting a knife into center.

If you use pork, make especially sure there is no pink at all. If you see any pink, cook longer.

Once cooked sufficiently, cool for about 20 minutes and slice.

This recipe is one of my family's favorites.

Shamrock Eggs

By SUZIE

Here is a fun and easy recipe for St. Patrick's day (or any day!) You can do these with any color peppers, even a variety for a special breakfast, not matter what the holiday. Enjoy!

SHAMROCK EGGS

• eggs (as many as you have bell pepper rings)

• green bell peppers
• pasture butter / olive oil as needed
• sea salt /pepper
• parsley
Instructions

1. Wash and clean out bell pepper
2. Slice across the bell pepper to make shamrock rings
3. Heat butter or oil in frying pan (I used a little of both)
4. Place bell pepper rings in pan to heat
5. Crack eggs into center of each ring
6. (The eggs will ooze out of the rings but you can clean them up later)
7. Flip when one side is cooked
8. Cook to desired texture
9. On plate, clean up edges

Social Security Matters Why Must I Pay Into Social Security When I'm Collecting Benefits?

By RUSSELL GLOOR
National Social Security Advisor
at the AMAC Foundation, The Non-Profit Arm of the Association of Mature American Citizens

Dear Rusty: I am collecting full Social Security benefits at age 72 and also working full time. Why is the federal government still taking money from my paycheck? I have written to Social Security experts on this issue, and they tell me "It's the law." That is not a good answer for me. Approximately $4,400 was taken from my pay in 2023 for Social Security and, yes, I get a pittance of a COLA increase, but not equal to what I pay. No one has been able to fully explain the Federal Government's thought process on taxing me for Social Security when I am getting full Social Security benefits. Can you? Signed: Working Senior

Dear Working Senior: Far be it from me to try to explain the federal government's thought process on anything, but I can explain why those already collecting Social Security benefits must continue to pay Social Security payroll taxes while working.

It actually goes back to 1935 and the panel commissioned by President Roosevelt to create America's Social Security program. Said panel determined how the program would be financed, Congress approved it, and FDR signed it. That methodology was essentially this:

Workers who earn (and their employers) must contribute to Social Security via payroll taxes to fund the program (we now know this as "FICA" for employees and "SECA" for the self-employed). When the program first started, certain employees and their employers were required to each contribute 1% of the employee's first $3,000 of earnings. Obviously, those amounts have risen over the decades. And, for clarity, only certain workers originally participated in Social Security, which has also changed over the decades so that now nearly everyone who works must pay Social Security payroll taxes.

Starting in 1937 and still today, SS payroll taxes paid by those now working are used by the federal government to pay benefits to those who are currently receiving. Said another way, Social Security is a "pay as you go" program where income from those working (and their employer) is used to pay benefits to those receiving. Payroll taxes collected aren't put into a personal account for the worker; rather they are used to meet current SS payment obligations. Any excess money collected is invested in special issue government bonds as reserves for future use (although current annual SS income is less than annual program costs – an entirely different topic).

So, the financing method enacted in 1935 and started in 1937 still applies – those who work and earn (and their employers) must pay into the system to fund benefit payments to those who are now receiving – and that includes those workers who are already collecting their Social Security. FYI, there was a time when, if someone worked after starting their SS benefits, they lost all of their benefits. Fortunately, that rule no longer exists, so those who are collecting SS benefits can now continue to get benefits if they work, but they must also still pay into the program from their work earnings to help pay benefits to SS recipients.

I hope this provides some insight for why you must continue to contribute to Social Security even after you have started collecting your benefits. It is a result of how the program is financed – predominantly by workers through payroll taxes on their earnings (and to a lesser extent from interest on Trust Fund reserves and income tax on Social Security benefits). With very few exceptions, everyone who works helps pay benefits to those now receiving.

that resulted in at least one citation and does not include information regarding stops in which an officer issued only a verbal warning, an area where officers have the greatest discretion.

In addition, researchers note that race and ethnicity are based on officer perception and not indicated on the Massachusetts driver's license. Also, the data does not reflect whether a motor vehicle stop was initiated at an officer's discretion or prompted by factors that limited an officer's discretion, such as a radio call or a warrant; the alleged infraction that preceded a stop, which may range from defective equipment to signs of impaired, distracted or aggressive driving that present a risk to the lives and safety of other road users; or information on an operator's prior driving record, which may impact whether the stop results in a warning, citation or arrest.

While the researchers found the relationships between data points, such as relationships between demographic information and motor vehicle stop outcomes, to be "statistically significant," they cautioned that the data does not provide insight into causation.

In addition to the report published Feb. 27, pursuant to the Hands- Free Law, an online dashboard containing data on uniform motor vehicle citations is now available on Mass.gov. The available online data released today includes information on more than 422,000 motor vehicle citations issued by Massachusetts police departments in 2020 and subsequently analyzed by the independent research team in their first baseline report.

The dashboard marks another step toward meeting the statute's requirements by making the 2020 aggregate data available to the public. Users can view all citations issued and sort the data by individual law enforcement agency, motorist age, gender, and race, the outcome of the motor vehicle stop and other criteria. The dashboard also includes missing and unknown data that were excluded from the data analysis contained in the report released last year.

Aggregate data from 2021 and 2022 is expected to become available on the dashboard later this year.

EOPSS will hold a series of virtual public hearings to present the new report and accept feedback from the public. Hearings will be held:

- Wednesday, March 20, 1 p.m.
- Thursday, March 21, 10 a.m.
- Tuesday, March 26, 2 p.m.

To find out more about how to access the public meetings, visit Mass.gov.

Written comments will also be accepted until 5 p.m. on April 11. They may be emailed to Citationdata@mass.gov or mailed to: Attn: Citation Data Research, Executive Office of Public Safety and Security, One Ashburton Place, Room 2133, Boston, MA 02108.

'Where the Heart Is' Lenten Series Continues At Quincy Point Congregational Church

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy, invites the public to the Fourth Sunday in Lent worship service Sunday at 10 a.m.

The church continues the Lenten Series theme of "Where the Heart Is." This week as we will be uplifted as we study: A Heart Rejoices. Cid Aloquina will read the accompanying scripture and Rev. Ellen Tatreau will present the Stewardship Moment.

Following worship all are also welcome to the downstairs Social hall for coffee, light refreshments and fellowship, hosted by the Stewardship Committee.

Quincy Point Congregational Church is accessible to all with an elevator on the Abbey Road side of the church and an "all access" restroom.

The weekly worship is live streamed at 10 a.m. each Sunday or you can see past services anytime on the church YouTube, Vimeo, Facebook pages or on the church website: www.quincypointcong.org.

Weekly worship is also re-broadcast on QATV channel 8 on Sundays at 11:30 a.m. and Wednesdays at 6 p.m.

The Easter Memorial Flower campaign to benefit the Laundry Love mission has begun. Choose lilies, daffodils or tulips (for $15 a plant) to help adorn the altar in celebration of Jesus' resurrection at 10 a.m. worship on Easter Sunday, March 31 and then take home the flowers after worship.

You can offer a memorial dedication in memory or in honor of a love done that will be distributed also on Easter.

The proceeds will benefit The Laundry Love mission that takes place the last Wednesday every month at the Wash-N-Dry, 236 Washington St. Please help us spread the word to those in need, as everyone deserves access to clean clothes.

Sign ups for the upcoming BUILD A BED workshop and SNUGGLE Drive have begun. This is the church's second time sponsoring this mission because we believe in their initiative: Bed for Every Child believes sleep is as essential as food, water, shelter, and clothing. They believe every child should have a safe place to rest and dream and so do we.

The event will take place on Saturday, May 4, at Quincy Point Congregational Church at 10:30 a.m. Building teams consist of 3 to 4 people each team.

Register to build a bed or donate to the "Snuggle" Drive (new twin sized comforters, sheets, pillows, a book and a stuffed animal.) Only 12 beds will be built. No Experience necessary.

Atria Marina Place Receives Senior Living Award

Atria Marina Place in North Quincy has been recognized with the 2024 Best of Senior Living Award. The award is determined by reviews of seniors and their families on APlaceforMom.com, a senior living referral service.

"It's our privilege to serve older adults and their families by providing living environments catered to the needs of today's seniors," said Ryan Sprau, executive vice president of Community Operations for Atria Senior Living. "Their feedback – in person and online, through partners like A Place for Mom and our biannual Customer Satisfaction Survey – shapes our path forward."

Atria Marina Place Executive Director Gina Lee D'Amore-Brown said:

"Our residents mean the world to us, and their praise is what we strive for every day. Being recognized as a Best of Senior Living Community by A Place for Mom lets us know our hard work is appreciated and is making a difference, not just for our residents, but their families. As a son or daughter, there is a great comfort in knowing your parent is safe, surrounded by friends, and provided with a variety of engaging opportunities, while being free from the chores of cooking, cleaning or maintenance."

One recurring theme in customer feedback about life at Atria communities is praise for the staff.

"The culture our team members nurture at each community and the relationship they build with residents is what ultimately makes so many seniors happy to call Atria home," D'Amore-Brown added.

Quincy Choral Society Pops Concert March 17 At QCA Auditorium

Under the direction of Sarah Labrie, Quincy Choral Society's March Pops concert will celebrate the coming of the spring equinox and the spring season with a program about nature and the elements. Selections include "I Feel the Earth Move" by Carole King, "Bridge Over Troubled Water" by Paul Simon, "Aquarius/Let the Sun Shine In" from the 1967 musical "Hair," "Great Balls of Fire" made famous by Jerry Lee Lewis, and "Fire and Rain" by James Taylor.

The concert will be held on Sunday, March 17, at Quincy Catholic Academy Auditorium. The afternoon includes a silent auction and some surprises to benefit the chorus including a raffle. A highlight of the auction is the opportunity to conduct the chorus performing "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

Doors open and auction bidding begins at 1:15 p.m. with the concert following at 2 p.m. Quincy Catholic Academy is located at 370 Hancock St., North Quincy. Tickets are $15 and will be available from members of the chorus and at the door. Seating is limited, and this popular event will be sold out. Come early to buy your ticket and bid.

Boston-based conductor, singer, and music educator, Sarah Labrie, is a Choral Director at Lexington High School in Lexington, MA. She was previously a Choral Director at Stoughton High School in Stoughton, MA. Ms. Labrie also serves as the Artistic Director of Quincy Choral Society. In spring 2023 she was recognized for significant contributions to Arts and Culture as Artistic Director of Quincy Choral Society and was awarded the prestigious Abigail Adams Award from the City of Quincy and Mayor Thomas Koch.

Ms. Labrie actively sings with the Tanglewood Festival Chorus and Boston Symphony Orchestra and in numerous other choral performances throughout North America and Europe. She has also sung professionally in symphonic choirs alongside the New York Philharmonic, Boston Pops, Vienna Philharmonic, Vienna Chamber Orchestra, Philadelphia Orchestra, and New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

Virginia "Gingy" Grimes, a graduate of Duke University, has served as collaborative accompanist for Quincy Choral Society since 1993. She is also Minister of Music at First Parish, Norwell, Music Director for the Pierce Players of the Milton Public Schools, and Music Director for Derby Summer Arts in Hingham. She is pianist for North Quincy and Quincy High Schools, for Hanscom Middle School in Bedford, and for Temple Beth David, Canton, during High Holy Days. Additionally, Ms. Grimes teaches and accompanies at Milton Academy. She has been musical director for several theater productions including Stephen Sondheim's A Little Night Music and Alan Mencken's Little Shop of Horrors.

Quincy Choral Society was founded in 1981 for the purpose of bringing musical excellence to the South Shore and the world. In December 2015, the Quincy City Council recognized Quincy Choral Society for bringing music and joy to the City of Quincy for 35 years. The chorus performs locally and has performed in music festivals in Washington, D.C., in Europe, at Carnegie Hall as part of the Masterworks Series, and most recently in Montreal and Quebec. In September 2018, the chorus participated in the dedication of the Hancock-Adams Common and now participates annually in the Pops Concert on the Common.

Quincy Choral Society is a 501(c)(3) organization, and donations are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. If you would like additional information about this and future concerts, visit quincychoral.org and follow the chorus on Facebook.

Irish Cultural Center Events To Celebrate St. Patrick's Day

The Irish Cultural Centre of Greater Boston announces events taking place at the Centre in the coming weeks in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Events include traditional music sessions and concerts as well as family-fun events.

Located in Canton, the ICC's 46-acre campus is dedicated to the preservation and promotion of Irish culture and heritage through music, dance, arts, history, language, sports, festivals, and other cultural events and activities. Open year-round to the public, the ICC welcomes both members and guests to appreciate the customs of Ireland through authentic food and drink, traditional Irish music, song and dance, sporting events, educational classes and more.

"In the coming weeks, members and guests of the ICC are invited to join in a month-long St. Patrick's Day celebration, experience the warmth of Irish hospitality, and enjoy the richness of Irish culture," said ICC Executive Director Jerry McDermott. "Come, be a part of the festivities, and create lasting memories with your family, friends and community!"

Upcoming St. Patrick's Day Events taking place at the ICC include:

An Irish St. Patrick's Day with Green Road Concert - Friday, March 8

Join Green Road on their St. Patrick's Day tour of the U.S. Green Road's music will celebrate the close connection between Ireland and America and feature a ballad/folk band and soloist soprano from Co. Wexford. With Green Road's Irish ballads and traditional music, infused with tones of Bluegrass and Americana, audiences are in for a treat. Tickets are $40 for non-members, $35 for members, and $10 for children 18 and under.

An Irish Cultural Centre St. Patrick's Week Céili with CCÉ - Saturday, March 9

Dance your way into the St. Patrick's Day festivities at the Irish Cultural Centre. Join us for a St. Patrick's Day Céili music by the wonderful Reynolds-Hanafin-Cooley branch of Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éireann.

Admission is $15 and includes tea and coffee.

Trevor Sexton & Ger O'Donnell Live at the ICC Saturday, March 9

Ger O'Donnell & Trevor Sexton are two vocal powerhouses whose close harmonies and instrumental styles complement each other beautifully. With influences spanning Bob Dylan, Bob Marley and Pete Seeger, their mix of traditional and original material interspersed with sprinklings of witty banter has transfixed audiences throughout the country.

General Admission is $30, VIP Meet-and-Greet Tickets are $40.

Breaking Trad - David Doocey, Donal Murphy & Mike Galvin Live In Concert! Sunday, March 10

Come join us for an incredible live concert featuring the talented trio of David Doocey, Donal Murphy, and Mike Galvin! Get ready to be blown away by their mesmerizing performances and energetic tunes. Between them, they have toured extensively around the world, performing at major festivals and music venues and toured with some of the biggest names in several different music genres including Four Men and a Dog, De Dannan, Dance star Michael Flatley, Sean Keane, Tim O'Brien, Alison Krauss & Gráda and many more.

Admission is $25.

The ICC's 4th Annual Boston St. Patrick's Day Celebration - Tuesday, March 12

Join the Irish Cultural Centre for an evening of Irish music and dance as we celebrate St. Patrick's Day and present Deirdre & Bob Leger with the annual 'Gradam Dóchais' for their outstanding contributions and philanthropic work with the Boston & New England Rose of Tralee over the past 38 years.

Tickets are $35 for young professionals and $75 for general admission. Sponsorship opportunities are available.

ICC's Family St. Patrick's Day Celebration Saturday, March 16

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with your loved ones at our annual Family St. Patrick's Day celebrations for all! Get ready for a day filled with fun activities for the whole family. From traditional Irish music and Irish step dance performances to face painting and games, there's something for everyone to enjoy. QUINCY COLLEGE

On Wednesday, Feb. 21, Sergeant Daniel Flaherty, who is assigned to our Community Services Unit, was working in a plain clothes capacity and in an unmarked police vehicle.

At about 12:15 p.m., he was driving along Revere Road and observed a male pacing back and forth at the corner of Revere Road and Mechanic Street. He reversed direction and observed the male now walking on Revere Road towards Elm Street. The male appeared nervous and was looking back and forth over his shoulder.

The male walked past 28 Mechanic St., an apartment building, only to turn back and stop in front of number 28. He then began pulling hard at the locked apartment building door and appeared frustrated that the door would not open. He eventually gained entry through the door which leads to a small foyer that leads to a second locked entry door.

Sergeant Flaherty observed him pulling hard and attempting to gain entry through the second door. He was unable to enter the second door and exited the apartment building. He continued to observe him pacing back and forth, looking back and forth over his shoulder. He then walked into the side and rear parking lot of the apartment building. He observed him walk between two parked cars and pull hard (several attempts) at the door handles. Sergeant Flaherty entered the lot in his unmarked vehicle and encountered the male.

Officer Steve Cleary responded to assist. Sergeant Flaherty identified himself as a Quincy Police Officer and explained why he was encountering him, and that he observed him trying several car door handles and the front door handle to the building. The male suspect stated that "his man" lived in the building. The male was placed under arrest for attempt to commit a crime, three counts: two for breaking and entering to a motor vehicle and one for breaking and entering to a building. The suspect was transported to police headquarters by Officer Crowley and booked by Sergeant Connolly. He was arraigned at Quincy District Court for the above charges.

Job Well Done!

On Wednesday, Feb. 28, at about 12:12 a.m., Officers Braun, O'Hare and Koch were dispatched to Highpoint Circle for a report of someone walking through buildings and taking packages to load them into a U-Haul van. Officers arrived on scene and observed a U-Haul van parked in a handicap spot out front of 6 Highpoint Cir.

Responding Officers could visibly notice packages inside of the vehicle through the window. A male fitting the description provided was located near 10 Highpoint Cir. wearing a mask and carrying a large black duffel bag. He pretended to be on his cell phone, but officers observed a blank screen.

When asked for identification, the male stated that he was from Russia and did not have any. He told officers he was at the complex to meet up with a girl. He could not provide her name, nor the building number or apartment. He was asked if the U-Haul was his and after hesitating, he stated that it belonged to a friend who was around the complex.

There were two visible propane tanks hanging out of the black duffel bag he had draped over his shoulder. Officer O'Hare advised the suspect to place the bag on the ground, for their safety, which he eventually complied with after hesitating and questioning the Officers. Due to the suspect's nervous behavior and the fact that he matched the description provided, he was detained and placed into handcuffs. Officer Fitzgerald and his K-9 Ragnar responded and conducted a sweep of the duffel bag and the exterior of the U-Haul.

Officer Braun then spoke to the reporting person, who told the officer he observed the suspect carrying packages as he walked into his building. Initially he did not think much of it, however after going up to his apartment he saw the suspect loading packages into the U-Haul and then walk towards 10 Highpoint Cir. The caller provided video of the suspects actions.

Officers observed damage to several mailboxes in all three mail rooms at the complex. A query of the VIN number on the U-Haul listed back as stolen and the wrong registration plate attached. The suspect did have in his possession a key to the U-Haul, which was towed as it contained several of the stolen packages.

The suspect was charged with possession of burglarious tools (crowbar), larceny from a building, breaking and entering into a depository, receiving a stolen motor vehicle and attaching wrong plates to a motor vehicle.

The suspect was uncooperative with the booking process and held overnight. Once his fingerprints came back, it was determined that he was not truthful about his identity. Detective Moran, our Police Prosecutor filed an additional charge for false name at arrest/booking. He was later arraigned at Quincy District Court.

Norfolk County Sheriff's Office Co-Hosting Blood Drive Friday

Sheriff Patrick W. McDermott announced today that the Norfolk County Sheriff's Office in partnership with the American Red Cross and Braintree Veterans Office will be hosting a blood drive on Friday, March 8th from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

The blood drive will take place at the Braintree Veterans Service Office located at 30 Foster Rd. and is open to the public.

Appointments are encouraged, however walk-in donors are welcome.

"The lack of blood supply is a public safety issue. We are one major incident away from a crisis," said Sheriff McDermott. "Donating blood is quick, easy and by taking the time to donate, you are literally saving lives. I encourage everyone to sign up and give."

Participants can schedule an appointment time online using this link: <https://www.redcrossblood.org/give.html/drive-results?zipSponsor=NorfolkCounty> and should arrive at least 15 minutes before their time slot to sign in and fill out necessary paperwork. There will be refreshments and a place for donors to rest after giving blood.

Donating blood makes a huge impact on people's everyday lives. By donating blood, you can impact up to three separate lives.

MSBA Approves New Squantum School Plans

and constructing the new school around the renovated 1919 section. The 1919 section and the three new wings would envelope a central courtyard that would feature an outdoor classroom.

In an interview prior to the board's vote, Supt. Kevin Mulvey called the design of the new facility "phenomenal."

"The designs as they are looking right now...it's looking great and the educational space and all of that, it's going to be phenomenal," Mulvey said. "We saw some preliminary designs of the outside. I think the community is going to be very, very happy with it. It fits really nice into the community, even better than the space right now, and it's keeping the 1919 wing, which is the first part of the building, which I think the community will be happy with too. It integrates that very nicely into the building."

Mulvey said the next step in the process would be to put the project out to bid.

"When the design is approved by the MSBA, the next phase is to actually put it out for bid and get contractors to bid on the specs as they're put together by our architects - Arrowstreet is our architect and doing a great job; PCA 360 is our project manager, they're doing a great job," Mulvey said.

"Between the two of them, they'll put the project out to bid and then we kind of wait and see what we get for cost estimates for construction of the new building and then obviously we have to get a definitive answer from the state as to how much the reimbursement rate will be for the school, but it will be over 60 percent, which is great."

As it currently stands,

ARTISTIC RENDERING shows the new Squantum Elementary School as seen from the corner of Mayflower Road and Huckins Avenue. At right is the original 1919 section of the building, which will be kept and renovated, and at left is one of the new two-story wings that would be added. The school will have capacity for up to 380 students.

the Squantum Elementary School contains roughly 45,000 gross square feet of space and has an enrollment of around 300 students. The new additions will be two stories tall, giving the building 80,000 square feet of space in total and capacity for 380 students. While the 1919 section of the building will remain - which means the project is classified as a renovation and addition by the MSBA - Mulvey said 80 percent of the building would be brand new once the project is complete.

Though the new school will be larger than the one it is replacing, the superintendent said it will be less obtrusive than the current facility.

"There will be two floors, but it is going to be hard to tell, the way that it was designed. Believe it or not, the way that it's designed right now is less obtrusive than the current building, and yet we're doubling our square footage," Mulvey said.

"The architects did an excellent job in regard to setbacks, placement of the building. The drop off will be much more efficient and safer for our kids. Parking will be much more readily available for our staff, which will be less disruptive to the neighborhood. The parks are going to remain intact so there won't be any taking of park land and that sort of thing. The overall footprint of the entire project will be great for the community out there."

The project will be completed in phases, Mulvey said, and the new facility could open in four years' time.

"Overall, it's supposed to take about five years, so I would say...we would be looking at opening potentially as early as four years from this September," he said. "I can't guarantee that, but that's what we're looking at. That will be dependent on the bids and how quickly we can get the shovel in the ground and all that other stuff."

Members of the project's building committee previously visited a school in Winchester to see the modular classrooms being used during a building project there. Modular classrooms will be used during the construction of the new Squantum Elementary School.

"Right now, that's what we're looking at," Mulvey replied when asked if modular classrooms would be used. "We went with a team - obviously our principal went, we went with a team of parents and a team of teachers - and the modular classrooms were so impressive that teachers were asking if they could have the modular classrooms rather than the existing classroom space."

"We will construct the building in phases, so the modular classrooms, you really can't tell the difference between a permanent modern classroom and the modulars. And, the modulars have the benefit of being completely HVAC controlled, obviously heat when it's cold and AC when it's warm, which is a huge benefit to our teachers. But just the learning space is great too. Both parents and teachers were very excited about the prospect of using modulars."

"Typically, when you hear about modulars," the superintendent added, "you think that they're going to pull in a trailer truck and... that's what our kids are going to be in. That's not the case. These are basically modern, fully functional, very bright, HVAC-controlled classrooms and you couldn't tell the difference really between a permanent, modern classroom and the modulars. They're really great systems. So that would be part of the project to keep all our students on site without impacting parkland and obviously keeping our students safe during the progress of the construction."

"Yeah, the modulars are a great system."

The modular classrooms are fully enclosed, Mulvey said, so students and staff do not have to go outside to get to other rooms. The modular space also includes bathroom facilities. Work could begin over the summer to connect the modular classrooms to the utilities on site.

"There will be preliminary work over the summer just getting ready for like connecting the modular classrooms to the sewerage and electrical," Mulvey said. "There will be obviously street work that will need to be done, utility work that will need to be done and all that. I think there's borings that will be happening over the summer too if it hasn't happened already."

"So, there will be work. I'm not necessarily sure that there will be like a groundbreaking to start foundation work or demolition or anything like that, but there will be consistent work going on to get ready for the transition."

The modular classrooms will be located behind the 1970 wing of the current school, which is located on the Standish Road side of the site.

"Basically, if you're looking at the front of the building, construction will begin with the demolition of the current gymnasium, which is also the cafeteria. While that is going on and they're integrating the 1919 building into that new construction, our students will be using the 1970 wing and the modulars," Mulvey said. "And when that piece is done, we will move everyone over into the new building, take down the 1970 wing, remove the modulars, and do the other portion of the building."

"It's going to phased pretty smoothly. It will factor in the need for cafeteria and gym space and all of that throughout the process."

Once complete, the staff parking area for the new school as well as the drop-off and pick-up area for buses will be located in a lot located on the Standish Road side of the site. Parking for parents will be located behind the school. Huckins Avenue and Mayflower Road will be both be widened, providing new on-street parking spaces.

The project will not impact the Wendell Moses Playground, the park space located behind the school, Mulvey said, though the park may be used for staging during construction.

"Once the construction is done, that parkland will be just the same as it was. It will be improved because as part of the project we're improving the parkland back there as well," Mulvey said. "There won't be any loss of footprint space for the park that's back there, which is what the neighbors wanted and kind of why we're building it in phases."

In an effort to help make the school a net-zero building, a geothermal well will be installed under the park, Mulvey stated.

"That's part of the plan, putting in a geothermal well back there," he said. "That will all be underground and undetectable and won't have an impact on the parkland, but it will certainly help us with our energy efficiency in trying to get to that net zero that I know that the City Council wants us to reach, and members of the School Committee too."

Dr. Fatima Maada Bio Visits Quincy March 10 For A Day Of Celebration And Remembrance

SGBV. She currently serves on the Advisory Board of the UN Secretary General's "Eminent Persons on Zero Waste." She was also recently named UNAIDS champion for the empowerment and engagement of adolescent girls and young women in Sierra Leone.

Defending Freedom will feature speeches by Dr. Fatima Maada Bio and the Minister of the United First Parish Church, Reverend Rebecca H. Froom. Other anticipated speakers include members of local and state government. The speakers will examine how the Amistad case brought together John Quincy Adams and the people of Sierra Leone for one of the most important legal challenges to slavery in United States history.

The Amistad case revolved around 53 Mende people—originally from what is now the Republic of Sierra Leone—who were enslaved on the Spanish ship La Amistad. The Mende people overpowered their captors and ordered the crew to return the Mende to their homeland. Tragically, the Mende people were deceived by the crew and sailed, instead, to the US where they were imprisoned.

The case for their freedom was eventually brought before the Supreme Court in 1841. John Quincy Adams took on their defense and argued that the captives had been illegally captured and sold into slavery. The Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Mende. Thirty-five of the surviving 53 Mende captives were freed and sailed home to Sierra Leone. To show their gratitude to Adams, the Mende presented him with an inscribed Bible which is displayed in the Stone Library at Adams National Historical Park.

His Excellency, Julius Maada Bio, President of Sierra Leone and husband of Dr. Fatima Maada Bio, is from the same tribe as Sengbe Pieh, the leader of the enslaved people aboard the Amistad who fought for the freedom of his fellow captives. As such, the connection to the Mende Bible and to the city of Quincy, where it resides, holds a large significance for the President and First Lady.

The spoken portion of the program will last approximately one hour and is free and open to the public. It will be followed by a light reception in the parish hall.

Historic tours of the Adams Crypt, where President John Quincy Adams and First Lady Louisa Catherine Adams, along with President John Adams and First Lady Abigail Adams, are entombed, will be available before and after the spoken program. The United First Parish Church is located at 1306 Hancock St. in Quincy.

The Adams National Historical Park includes the birthplaces of the second and sixth presidents of the United States, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, along with the Old House at Peace field, home to both presidents and four generations of their distinguished family.

MA House Passes Bill To Increase States's Competitiveness For Federal Funds

The Massachusetts House of Representatives Feb. 28th passed a bill that will enable the Commonwealth to leverage the interest earned by the Stabilization Fund, which currently stands at a historically high balance of $8.2 billion, to bolster our ability to compete for federal funds and pay down debt obligations, such as pensions and other post-employment benefits. With the passage of this bill, Massachusetts will be able to more aggressively compete for federal funding made available through the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, the Inflation Reduction Act, and the CHIPS and Science Act.

"Ensuring that the Commonwealth is able to aggressively compete for the federal funding being made available to states is critical, especially given the challenging revenue conditions that we are facing here in Massachusetts this fiscal year," said House Speaker Ronald J. Mariano (D-Quincy). "The projects and investments that will be funded throughout the U.S. because of Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act, the Inflation Reduction Act, and the CHIPS and Science Act will transform this country and create a significant number of jobs in the process. It's vital that Massachusetts does everything that it can to share in that prosperity. I want to thank Chairman Michlewitz and Chairman Lewis for their work on this issue, as well as all my colleagues in the House for recognizing the importance of this legislation."

"This legislation will ensure Massachusetts' competitive edge while responsibly maintaining our stabilization fund," said Rep. Tackey Chan (D-Quincy). "It is an innovative way to maximize all opportunities for federal funds including through the Infrastructure Act, CHIPS Act, and Inflation Reduction Act."

"The passage of this bill is a demonstration of the legislature's commitment to ensuring Massachusetts remains competitive in our pursuit of federal funding," said Rep. Bruce J. Ayers (D-Quincy). "This puts us in a better position to address important issues facing our communities, while continuing to pay down our debt and maintain fiscal responsibility."

The legislation passed yesterday establishes the Commonwealth Federal Matching and Debt Reduction Fund to be administered by the Executive Office for Administration and Finance (A&F). The fund will consist of the interest earned on the Stabilization Fund in each fiscal year, any money appropriated to the fund, and interest earned on the fund. The Comptroller will transfer interest from the Stabilization Fund to the newly established Commonwealth Federal Matching and Debt Reduction fund each quarter, but as a safeguard, no transfer will occur if the balance has decreased over the preceding year, or if it no longer exceeds 10 percent of budgeted revenues.

A&F may expend the funds to pay down the Commonwealth's debt or pension obligations, OPEB, capital leases, general or special obligation contract liabilities, or transfer any amount back to the Stabilization Fund. A&F may expend up to $750 million from the fund to provide matching funds for federal programs through December 1, 2026:

- Up to $50 million may be used for matching funds for federal programs in the form of grants, loans, and other financial assistance to cities, towns, tribes, and regional organizations.

- Up to $12 million may be used to provide grants to support municipal, tribal, and regional organizations in planning efforts.

Having passed the House of Representatives 152-0, An Act to provide for competitiveness and infrastructure investment in Massachusetts now returns to the Senate for further consideration.

QATV Teaches 3rd Graders In Georgia

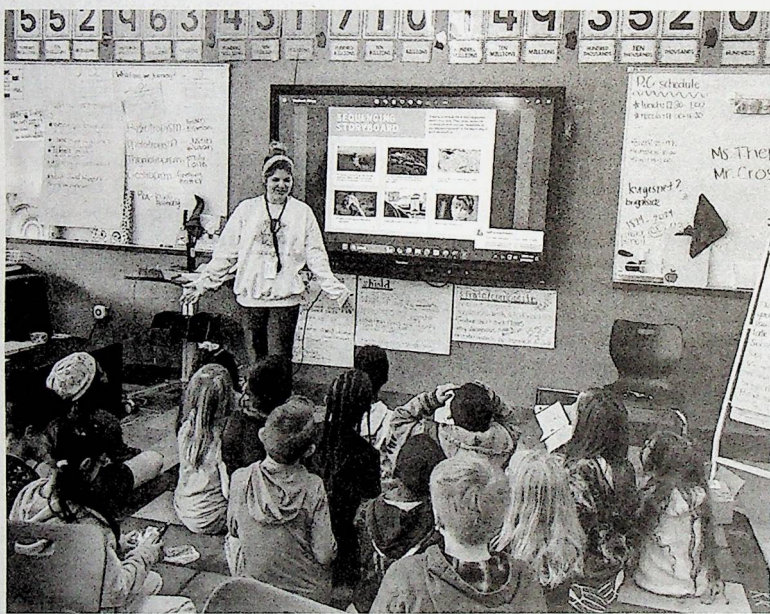

Quincy Access Television (QATV) was recently approached by Erin Walker, a third grade teacher at J.H. House Elementary in Conyers, Georgia, asking for assistance in teaching her students about Public Service Announcements (PSAs). Walker had come across a PSA that QATV produced in 2020 offering help to remotely produce PSAs.

Walker's third graders were tasked with creating PSAs to inform those in harm's way of volcanic eruptions.

"I was browsing the internet looking to figure out how I could teach PSAs to my group of 3rd graders, when I was lucky enough to stumble across a PSA with an email address for a free PSA session with Quincy Access Television. I sent an email; in the off chance they could possibly help us, and Ms. Themmen and Mr. Crosby emailed back right away," said Walker.

A Zoom date was agreed upon and a Power Point presentation geared to 3rd graders was created by Carol Themmen, Graphic Designer at QATV. "This immediately presented itself to us, as the power the internet has to connect people from all over and in turn share some goodwill, it felt destined to be a good and positive experience," said Themmen.

Mark Crosby, Government Access Coordinator taught Walker's class how to create a PSA and fielded the children's questions, which were thoughtful and contained one "I love you!" The students were excited and engaged.

"To realize the importance and reach of locally produced content, and to be able to share information and knowledge with people, not only in Quincy, but with third grade students in Georgia, was amazing and rewarding. I appreciate the innovative teaching of Ms. Walker and thank her for reaching out to our access station," said Crosby.

Walker commented on her experience by stating that QATV's "excitement and dedication to helping my students along with the time that they put into creating an engaging presentation was far beyond what I expected. To say my students were excited would be an understatement, in knowing that these 'community experts' from so far away would care so much about their learning meant the world to them. Inviting community members into our classrooms shows students how relevant their learning really is and gets them so excited and engaged about the work they do each day in class."

"Thank you to Quincy Access Television - you brought so much great learning and excitement into our classroom, and we can't wait to show you our projects when we are complete!"

QATV's mission is to provide television production equipment, training and airtime on the local cable channels to enable members of the public, accredited educational institutions, and government to produce their own shows and televise them to an audience.

"The staff of QATV believe in the importance of locally produced television, including helping others that don't have a facility such as ours in their community," said QATV Executive Director Jonathan Caliri. "We were happy to be able to assist Ms. Walker in teaching her 3rd graders about PSAs. We encourage all Quincy residents to take the opportunity to visit QATV. We are here to help you produce anything you would like to see on television."

Quincy Access Television is located at 88 Washington St., adjacent to the Thomas Crane Library. Call 617-376-1440 or email qatv@qatv.org with any questions or thoughts on a show you would like to produce.

#13 NQ Battles, Bows To #13 W-H In Div. 2 Tournament

By TOM JOYCE

How many teams can say they've erased a 15-point deficit in the fourth quarter?

Not many, but the North Quincy High girls' basketball team is one of them.

The #20 Raiders, who trailed by that much going into the final quarter of their MIAA Division 2 Round of 32 playoff game against the #13 Whitman-Hanson Panthers on Wednesday, Feb. 28, battled to the very end but came up short bowing 63-60. North had tied the game with under a minute remaining but were unable to make a full comeback. They ended up dropping a tight one by three points on the road. With the loss, the Raiders finished their season at 12-10.

Much of the first half was competitive, though Whitman-Hanson pulled away late in it.

The Raiders were sharp early, taking a 4-2 lead in the first minute of the game — but then Whitman-Hanson's offense woke up. Au-turn O'Campos (18 points) hit two free throws after Ava Bryan (19 points) made a basket, giving the team an early lead. However, Whitman-Hanson responded with a 7-0 run started by a three-pointer.

Back-to-back-to-back layups from O'Campos then gave the Raiders a 10-9 advantage, but Whitman-Hanson erased this lead in the final 90 seconds of the first quarter. The team hit a three-pointer and a layup, taking a 14-10 lead.

Whitman-Hanson then built on that lead late in the second quarter.

That 5-0 run late in the first quarter ended up being a 10-0 run for Whitman-Hanson that extended into the second quarter, as the team added five more points unanswered before the Raiders could respond.

The Raiders chipped away at that deficit. A three-pointer from Maeve Powers (12 points) and two free throws from two trips to the line for O'Campos made it a two-point game, 25-23, with 1:12 left in the first half, but Whitman-Hanson got some breathing room after that.

Whitman-Hanson scored eight unanswered points in the final minute of the first half: two three-pointers and a layup; the team went into halftime leading the Raiders by 10 points, 33-23.

Whitman-Hanson kept that momentum going in the third quarter, expanding its lead.

While Bryan scored six points at the free throw line alone in the third quarter, Whitman-Hanson outscored the Raiders 19-14 over those eight minutes and led 52-37 going into the fourth quarter.

The Raiders slowly but surely chipped away at that lead.

Whitman-Hanson started the fourth quarter with a layup, extending its lead to 17 points. However, the Raiders responded with a 14-0 run that made it a three-point game, 54-51.

Powers hit a layup and a free throw to start the run. Then O'Campos made two free throws, and Caroline O'Donnell made back-to-back shots underneath the basket. A layup from O'Campos and a three-pointer from Bryan added five more points, making it a one-score game.

With 2:20 remaining, the Raiders made it a two-point game, 58-56, after Bryan hit a wide-open three-pointer; this came about 30 seconds after O'Campos hit a free-throw.

Then, thanks to free throws, the Raiders tied the game. Whitman-Hanson went to the line with 1:29 remaining and missed both free-throw attempts. However, when O'Campos went to the line with 33.7 seconds left, she hit both of her shots, tying the game at 60 apiece. She got the ball back for the Raiders after stealing it from a Whitman-Hanson player.

Ultimately, the Raiders were unable to make a comeback. They fouled a Whitman-Hanson player with 18.5 seconds remaining, and the girl hit a free throw, giving the team a 61-60 advantage. Whitman-Hanson then stole the ball in Raiders territory, and a foul with 3.5 seconds left sent an opposing player to the free-throw line. Whitman-Hanson hit both of its shots, giving it a 63-60 advantage.

Then, as the Raiders looked to make a couple of passes and then attempt a long three-pointer, Whitman-Hanson intercepted one of those passes, ending the game.

Whitman-Hanson advanced to the Round of 16 of the playoff tournament with the win.

The playoff game against Whitman-Hanson was a rematch for the two Patriot League teams. The Raiders hosted Whitman-Hanson on Valentine's Day and lost a close one, 45-42.

A strong regular season finish helped the Raiders not only clinch a playoff spot but also secure better seeding. With three games left in the regular season, the team was 9-9 and needed to win a majority of its games to earn an automatic spot in the playoffs. The team did one better — winning each of its final three regular-season games to punch a ticket to the postseason tournament.

The Raiders had some experience on their side this season, with eight seniors on the roster. The team this year includes: senior guard Mary Saccoach, sophomore guard Maeghan Smith, senior guard Emma Cramond, senior forward Jillian Jaehnig, senior forward/center and captain Autumn O'Campos, junior guard Iris Gjoka, senior guard/forward and captain Ava Bryan, sophomore guard Ella Lynch, freshman guard Maeve Powers, senior guard Molly Toland, freshman guard Nora Geary, sophomore guard Harper Mergel, senior forward Grace Pickering, and senior forward/center Caroline O'Donnell.

Quincy High alum Liana Cunningham is the team's head coach. Assistant coach is Alyssa Camara, also a Quincy High graduate.

Nicole Leung '26 Leads Woodward Basketball Team To Successful Season

In her first year at The Woodward School in Quincy, sophomore Nicole Leung led her team to 10 more victories than the Wildcats had achieved last year as they tied for second place in the Girls Independent League (GIL) before falling in the championship game to Boston University Academy.

Leung averaged 30 points per game, scoring over 40 points in four games. She scored 400 points in 13 games in the regular season which was a school record for Woodward. She scored in double figures in all contests as well as led the Wildcats in rebounding and assists. Her three point range is amazing, hitting shots well beyond the three point arc. A dedicated basketball player, Leung goes to the YMCA every day for conditioning and weight training.

Leung was selected as a NEPSAC All Star, and as a candidate for the G.I.L. MVP award. She has traveled the country playing in AAU tournaments and winning a tournament MVP award along the way.

"Nicole works as hard academically as she does athletically, posting a 4.0 GPA," said Coach Bob Giordano. "Above all, Nicole is even a better person than a player. I couldn't be prouder of her."

Quincy Bows To Lexington In Div. 1 After Defeating Hopkinton

By TOM JOYCE
One point. That's all that separated Quincy girls' basketball from advancing to the Elite 8 of the Div. 1 state tournament.

The #9 Presidents nearly pulled off a huge comeback on the road against #8 Lexington Monday night but a last-second buzzer beater shot fell short. Quincy – which had been down 15 points at half-time but narrowed the gap to just one point with 11 seconds left to play, couldn't pull off the comeback. With 11 seconds left, the Presidents – trailing by a point – grabbed a rebound off a Lexington miss and ran up court to set up a final shot. The potential game-winner would not fall and Quincy dropped the Round of 16 matchup to the Minutemen, 50-49. The Presidents finish the season with a plenty-to-be-proud-about 18-4 record.

Quincy – champions of the Patriot League Fisher Division – advanced to the Round of 16 after a dominating home win over #24 Hopkinton last Friday night. The Presidents got strong offensive contributions from a few players and played tough all-around defense. The team defeated the Hilliers, 55-36.

Although the Presidents were the dominant team in this one, it did not become a one-sided game initially. Rather, the Presidents trailed by one point, 12-11, going into the second quarter. That's because Hopkinton took the lead with a free throw with under 30 seconds left in the first quarter.

However, in the final three quarters, the Presidents outscored their foe by 20 points – expanding their lead with each passing quarter.

With under three minutes left in the first half, Alyssa Hopps (22 points) sank a three-pointer for the Presidents, giving the team a 24-20 advantage. However,

Hopkinton went down the court and returned the favor, making it a one-point game again. Even so, the Presidents Cont'd On Page 19

went into the locker room at halftime up by three points, 27-23. That's because the next points came when Frankie Diaz hit a three-pointer in the final few seconds of the first half. Hopps grabbed a rebound on Hopkinton's side of the court to get the offensive drive started.

Not only did the Presidents' offense improve in the second half, but so did their defense. They held their opponent to just 13 points over the final 16 minutes -- less than one basket every two minutes.

Early in the third quarter, the Presidents had a 6-0 run, boosting their lead to 10 points, 33-23. During the run, Hopps and Diaz hit layups; Taylor Mann had the assist on Diaz' layup. Plus, Hopkinton fouled Hopps, and she hit two free throws from the line.

While Hopkinton cut its deficit in half with a 5-0 run, the Presidents responded with an 11-0 run that lasted for the rest of the quarter and gave them a 44-28 lead going into the fourth quarter. Niamh Gendron (15 points, 10 rebounds) hit two layups, Diaz got another one, and Taylor Mann sank a three-pointer with under 1:30 left in the quarter to give the team a 14-point lead. Plus, Gendron added another layup with 1:08 left, putting the team up by 16 points.

The Presidents continued playing stout defense in the fourth quarter and controlled the pace of the game when they got the ball. Hopps extended the team's run to a 13-0 affair as she hit a finger roll layup with 5:43 remaining in the fourth quarter, putting the Presidents up by 18 points. Hopkinton wouldn't score its first points of the fourth until there was 4:15 remaining in the quarter; the team missed two free throws about a minute prior.

The Presidents lead peaked at 23 points, 55-32, when Hopps sank her final layup of the game with just under a minute remaining. Hopkinton had a quick 4-0 run after that, but by that time, the deficit was too large, and there was too little time remaining to make a comeback.

The Presidents had a young team this season, with just one senior. The roster for the Presidents this season includes: junior guard Ella Roche, freshman guard Frankie Diaz, sophomore guard Taylor Mann, freshman guard Rory Kennedy, junior forward Kyrie Blue, freshman guard Evie Catrambone, junior guard Lilliana Catrambone, junior forward and captain Niamh Gendron, senior guard and captain Paige Mann, junior forward and captain Alyssa Hopps, and junior guard Jayden Treannie. Sarah JUNIOR CAPTAIN Niamh Gendron scored 15 points in the Presidents' victory over Hopkinton.

Quincy, Marshfield Teams Win Sheriff's Tourney

Sheriff Patrick W. McDermott recently congratulated the first Norfolk County Sheriff's Cup Championship teams, Quincy Youth Hockey and Marshfield Youth Hockey, presenting them with their team name on the trophy and special tournament hockey pucks.

The championship teams participated in a double elimination tournament during February vacation week along with teams from Norwood, Weymouth, Hyde Park and Milton.

"Congratulations to our championship teams and all of the teams who participated in the Sheriff's Cup Tournament," McDermott said. "These kinds of community engagement events fall squarely into our mission statement of prevention, intervention, education and hope. A key component of prevention is ensuring that there are positive activities for kids to participate in and at the same time educate them about teambuilding, support and healthy choices. I'm looking forward to next year's tournament."

In the finals, Marshfield won against Norwood 3-2. Quincy won against Milton 4-2.

Two teams from Quincy competed in the tournament. The Quincy Squirt A team that won a championship included these players and coaches:

plus a basement, and include some 120,000 square feet of space. The project also includes a total of 332 parking spaces, some in a parking garage that will be built behind the new building and others on the surface.

The building will provide a new home for the Quincy Police Department, replacing the current police station which was built in the 1920s and renovated in the 1980s. The building will also house the Quincy Fire Department's administrative offices and the Emergency Management Department.

Among other improvements, the project also includes upgrades to the infrastructure on Broad Street, the extension of Field Street to Broad Street to improve traffic circulation in the area, and the opening of a new municipal fueling station at the former site of a Stop & Shop gas station on Southern Artery.

City councillors have previously authorized borrowing $175 million to construct the new public safety headquarters and other related project costs. A $32 million bond approved in 2019 included funding to acquire five parcels of land – four in the vicinity of the public safety building and one on Quincy Avenue,

OBITUARIES

Judith L. Badger, 84

Judith L. "Judi" Badger, a lifelong resident of Quincy, passed away peacefully, surrounded by family on Thursday, Feb. 22, 2024. She was 84.

She was born in Melrose to Helen Glendyne (Carpenter) and Edward Shrow LeBaron and raised in Quincy. She graduated from North Quincy High School in the Class of 1957 and was a proud majorette during her time there. After high school she pursued her passion for design with the Massachusetts College of Art and Design. There she earned her associate degree and went on to put her skills to use by designing cakes and dresses.

In the early 60's Judi started a family of her own, having two sons. A devoted single mother, she worked hard to care and provide for her children. Throughout their childhood she had many jobs, including, waitressing, designing cakes and clothing, specifically bridal and special occasion dresses. She was selfless, supportive, and always made her family a priority. She often hosted parties for special occasions, inviting the neighborhood over to share her beautifully made cakes. She enjoyed dressing up as "Carpy" the clown and do face painting for the kids. Judi adored her grandchildren and was instrumental in helping her sons care for them. Whether it be babysitting during the day or making sure birthdays were always a very special occasion. She truly loved her family and was her happiest while spending time with them.

In her free time, Judi liked to travel and go on cruises, or have dinner at the Elks with friends. For 40 years she took great pride in organizing her class reunion with her dear friend Mary Player.

Devoted mother to Jon L. Badger and his wife Karen of Whitman and the late Jeffrey A. Badger. Cherished grandmother to Erika (Aaron), Jared, Leah, Sean (Colleen), Reanna and Candace (Jason) and her 12 great-grandchildren.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to greet the family during the visiting hours on Thursday, March 7th, from 4-7 p.m. in the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy. Funeral service will be celebrated on Friday, March 8th, at 10 a.m. in First Baptist Church of Wollaston, Quincy, 81 Prospect Ave., Quincy. Burial in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

Janis E. Burton, 93

Janis E. (Powell) Burton, age 93, a lifelong Quincy resident, died peacefully, Thursday, Feb. 22, 2024 in the comfort of her home.

Janis was born in Boston, to the late Vernard and Marjorie (Irvine) Powell. Raised and educated in Quincy, Janis had lived in Houghs Neck for most of her life.

She was employed as an executive secretary for the Lily Transportation Corporation in Needham for ten years.

Janis was a woman of faith and a longtime member of the First Baptist Church of Wollaston where she served as Chairperson of the Deacons and was an expert on the church's by-laws.

She was active as a leader of the Campfire Girls and was involved with summer camps at Camp Kiwanee in Hanson for many years.

Janis was a miniature en-

JANIS E. BURTON

thusiast and had served as president of the Tiny Treasures Society, coordinating and attending conventions for twenty-four years. She was also a longtime member of the National Association of Miniature Enthusiasts.

She loved to travel with family and friends. Most of all, Janis was dedicated to her family, especially her daughter, son-in-law, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Beloved wife of the late Richard F. Burton.

Devoted mother of the late Stephanie E. Mahn and her surviving husband Gary W. Mahn of Canton.

Loving grandmother of Jennifer L. Flanagan and her husband Andrew, Eric S. Mahn and Christina Franklin, and Justin T. Mahn.

Cherished great grandmother of Kayleigh, Liam, Aaron, and Ryan.

Dear aunt of Cindy Li and her husband Al, John Powell and his wife Ellen.

A Memorial Service will be conducted at the First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., Quincy, on Saturday, March 16, at 2 p.m. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Janis' memory may be made to the First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., Quincy, MA 02170.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. You are invited to visit www.thesweeneybrothers.com or call 617-472-6344.

Mary J. (Kenney) Doherty, age 84, of Quincy, passed away at home on Friday, Feb. 23, 2024, surrounded by members of her loving family and holding the hand of her beloved husband of 62 years.

Born April 3, 1939, in Boston to Johanna M. (O'Connell) and James P. Kenney, Mary grew up alongside her elder brothers, Rich Kenney and the late Jim Kenney in the vibrant Irish neighborhood of Boston's South End. Her early education was Cathedral High School, reflecting her family's deep roots in the community where her father worked at the Boston Public Library and her mother provided a welcoming home for family and friends emigrating from County Cork, Ireland.

When Mary's family made their summer cottage in Houghs Neck into a permanent home, Mary completed her high school education at Quincy High School. Following graduation, she began a career in the advertising department for the Polaroid Corporation.

Mary's life took a romantic turn when she met the love of her life, Jim Doherty, at a beach party on Peddocks Island, one of the largest islands in Boston Harbor (now part of the National Boston Harbor Islands Park). They started a love story that led to marriage at Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Quincy, in October 1962. Together they raised five children and built a life on Rockland Street, where they lived and loved and aged happily in place, for over 60 years.

A woman of faith and community spirit, Mary devoted much time to Most Blessed Sacrament Church, where she led the CCD Program and was an active member of Our Lady's Sodality. Her zest for fun extended to her "shower friend" group, bowling team and garden club. Mary was an avid reader and gardener, and a lifelong lover of music and dancing, especially anything with the rhythm of an Irish jig. She cherished time spent sailing with her family and was known for her love of shopping. Her greatest joy, however, was being a grandmother to her eight beloved grandchildren. She will be remembered by her family and friends for her fierce protective spirit, her epic hostessing at holidays and as a loving wife, devoted mother and adoring grandmother.

Mary is survived by her husband, James P. Doherty, Sr., her daughter, Maura Doherty (Steve DeLano) and their children Casey, Jimmy and Cori DeLano; son, James P. Doherty, Jr. (Haydee DeGuzman); daughter, Kelly Doherty and her children Michael, Matthew and Owen DeFao; son, Dennis Doherty (Diane) and their children Mary and Patrick Doherty; and daughter, Erin Doherty; and her brothers, J. Richard Kenney (the late Ruth) and the late James P. Kenney, Jr. (the late Agnes); as well as many nieces and nephews.

A Memorial Funeral Mass was celebrated at Holy Trinity Parish in Most Blessed Sacrament Church, 1015 Sea St., Quincy, on Saturday, March 2. At the request of the family, interment will take place privately at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Mary's memory may be made to Holy Trinity Parish, 227 Sea St., Quincy, MA 02169 or the Houghs Neck Garden Club, 1193 Sea St., Quincy, MA 02169.

Janice M. Kussman, 88

Janice M. (Logan) Kussman, born March 6, 1935, of Quincy formerly of South Boston, died Feb. 27, 2024 surrounded by her loving family. She was 88.

Beloved wife of 64 years of the late Frederick J. Kussman, Jr., devoted mother to Joanne Devin of Canton, Patricia Kussman, Frederick F. Kussman, Mary Burke and her husband Kenneth of Quincy and Claire Pacchielat and her husband Tony of Easton. Loving nana to 10 grandchildren Paul, Christine, Katelyn, Melissa, Edward, Steven, Michael, James, Sarah and Joseph. Loving and cherished great-nana of 9. Sister of the late Peggy Coughlin, Thomas Logan, Claire Capeless, Ronald Logan, Joan MacQueen, Stephen Norton, and Ronald Norton. Janice is survived by her sisters-in-law Marilyn Norton of Scituate and Carole Kussmann of Milton, and friends Terry Dunn and Beverly Welch of Quincy. Janice is also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Janice graduated from Gate of Heaven High School in South Boston. She was a stay-at-home mom for many years before working at State Street Corporation and Manet Community Health Center in Quincy. She loved her family, extended family, her childhood friends and her Hough's Neck friends and neighbors. Pool parties, watching grandchildren, visiting friends, vacationing at the Anastasi's cottage and hosting dinner for over 30 years every Tuesday for "Tuesday Night Dinner" were among her favorite activities. Janice and her late husband Fred had an open-door policy at their home. All were welcome, always, especially during pool season. The grandchildren were spoiled with treats, warm towels and kind words. Janice had a prolonged illness with Alzheimer's Disease, but her generous spirit and loving nature was enjoyed by all. When she became homebound her neighbors; the Anastasi, Pringles, Haskins, Quinn and others carried a ramp from Steve A's home and set it up for Janice. It was a beautiful act of kindness from our very exceptional neighbors. Special thank you to Karen W, Danielle U, Mary M, Old Colony Hospice and all those who visited with Janice, you helped our family last week ahead of another announcement by OPEC+ that their ongoing production cuts will be extended.

The average gas price in Massachusetts is the same as last week averaging $3.18 per gallon. Monday's price is 3 cents higher than a month ago ($3.15), and 10 cents lower than March 4, 2023 ($3.28). Massachusetts's average gas price is 17 cents lower than the national average.

"Compared to last year, American drivers burned seven percent less gasoline last week, which is one factor keeping gas prices parked here in the Northeast for the time being," said Mark Schieldrop, Senior Spokesperson for AAA Northeast. "Despite record oil production, higher oil prices could push prices up in the coming weeks if demand increases as we inch closer to the summer driving season."

"Spaceman" (R) — Based on the 2017 novel "Spaceman of Bohemia," this sci-fi drama stars Adam Sandler as Jakub Prochazka, an astronaut who embarks on an isolating solo journey into space. Six months into his journey, his mental state begins to deteriorate as he misses his life on Earth, and he unexpectedly encounters a large extraterrestrial spider on his ship that appears to come in peace. The spider, who goes by Hanus, tells Jakub that he's there to assist him with his emotional distress. Even though Jakub is unsure of whether Hanus is imaginary or real, he begins to dig deep into his subconscious to persist through his journey and make it home to his wife. Sandler excels in this dramatic role, while Paul Dano lends his mystifying voice to Hanus. Carey Mulligan co-stars. Out now! (Netflix)

"Ricky Stanicky" (R) — Dean, Wes and JT are a trio of friends who have hatched the ultimate scheme to get away from boring commitments: a nonexistent friend named Ricky Stanicky, who always seems to need them at the most inopportune times. But when JT misses the birth of his child because he was "taking care of Ricky," people start to become suspicious of whether Ricky actually exists. So, the men come up with another brilliant scheme to hire an X-rated rock-and-roll impersonator named Rod to portray Ricky in front of their partners, family members and friends. What could possibly go wrong? Director Peter Farrelly ("Green Book") takes on this comedy film out March 7, starring Zac Efron, John Cena and William H. Macy. (Amazon Prime Video)

"The Regime" (TV-MA) — Elena Vernham (Kate Winslet) is the chancellor of an autocracy in a fictionalized version of Europe, and she realizes that her authoritarian regime is starting to crumble around her. At the same time, Elena meets an unstable soldier named Herbert Zubak, who pledges his undying allegiance to her. They become close confidants, and Herbert's ruthlessness begins to rub off on Elena, prompting her to switch up the way she approaches her political duties. Unable to stand even a single word of criticism by her cabinet or her opponents, Elena slowly but surely starts evolving into a dictator. She's ready to see the world burn if it means she gets to obtain more power. The first episode is out now, and the remaining five episodes will be released every Sunday. (Max)

Kate Winslet and Matthias Schoenaerts star in "The Regime."

"The Marsh King's Daughter" (R) — Daisy Ridley (of the "Star Wars" sequel trilogy) leads this psychological thriller that will leave you hanging on the edge of your seat! Adapted from the bestselling novel by Karen Dionne, this film follows a woman named Helena (Ridley) who receives news that her father, the Marsh King, has escaped from prison. As Helena unpacks what this could mean for her and her own daughter now that her father is on the run, memories from her traumatic childhood spent in captivity resurface. She realizes the only way she can keep herself and her family safe from the Marsh King is if she takes all that he taught her and beats him at his own game. Out on March 5. (Hulu)

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

There are many hands where the outcome is a foregone conclusion because declarer has the overwhelming balance of strength. But there are also many other hands where skill is the sole determining factor.

Take this case where West leads the queen of hearts against three notrump and South must exercise great care to get home safely. Let's say he wins the heart with the king and plays the Q-K-A of diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 split. West discards a heart on the third round, and South has to choose between persevering with diamonds or playing for a 3-3 spade division.

Either way, three notrump goes down. South fails by sheer force if he tries the spades first, and he also fails if he plays a diamond to establish dummy's fifth diamond as a trick. In the latter case, East wins the diamond and returns the jack of clubs, allowing the defense to collect four club tricks and put the contract down one.

However, South can make three notrump by crossing to dummy with a spade at trick two and leading a low diamond, intending to play the eight if East follows low.

In the actual case, West wins the eight with the ten but is helpless. With West on lead, there is no way the defenders can collect four club tricks. At the same time, South is sure to score three spades, two hearts and four diamonds to finish with nine tricks.

In effect, declarer shapes his play so as to avoid losing a diamond trick to East. By adopting this approach, declarer makes it impossible for the defense to score four club tricks before he can establish and score four diamond tricks.

Treatment Given For Dry Eyes Fails To Improve Condition

DEAR DR. ROACH: I developed chronic dry eyes after having cataract surgery on both eyes. I consulted an ophthalmologist who specialized in treating dry eyes. She prescribed Restasis, but my condition didn't improve after three months of use. She then switched me to Xiidra and instructed me to use it for two more refills, which lasted for nine months.

At the end of my conversation with the dry eye specialist, she said that she had done everything she could for me. I inquired about the Miebo drug that was recently approved or the LipiFlow procedure. She mumbled something, then said "goodbye" and "good luck." Was she openly admitting her incompetence? -- K.J.W.

ANSWER: It's hard for me to believe that a dry eye specialist wouldn't know about the new treatments available in their area of expertise, and I can only guess that there was some kind of miscommunication. As a generalist, I have to know at least a little bit about a whole lot of conditions, rather than a specialist who knows a whole lot about just a few conditions.

For most people with dry eyes, starting with artificial tears is usual and effective, but I certainly have had patients use artificial tears many times daily and still have unpleasant symptoms. I also recommend trying to avoid dry areas, especially with high airflow.

Most people with dry eyes have blockages in the meibomian glands, which secrete an oily substance that helps prevent the eye fluid from drying. It also forces the lacrimal glands to make more tears. (This leads to the paradox of people having red, watery eyes when they really have dry eye disease.) Trying to unblock the meibomian glands with baby shampoo and warm water is another treatment generalists like me often try. But when these therapies aren't working, an ophthalmologist is essential.

An ophthalmologist can do an exam to be sure if the meibomian glands are blocked. Among the treatments they have available are the ones you tried: cyclosporine (Restasis), which works well for a minority of people; lifitegrast (Xiidra), which decreases inflammation; varenicline (Tyrvaya), which increases tear production; and Miebo (perfluorohexyloctane), which works by reducing evaporation.

If the problem really is the blocked glands, doctors can also consider more powerful treatments to unblock them. One of these, LipiFlow, is a heat-based treatment. My colleagues in ophthalmology, to whom I refer, tell me that this is often successful, although the process may need to be repeated -- sometimes every six months and sometimes longer. Ophthalmologists can also place plugs to reduce the loss of tears through drainage.

DEAR DR. ROACH: We're told to wash our hands with soap and water for 20 seconds to kill the COVID-19 virus. How long should we wash our hands to kill bacteria and other viruses? -- C.C.

ANSWER: 20 seconds is the right amount of time for bacteria and viruses. An alternative is an alcohol-based handrub, which is fast and effective. Of course, you should wash your hands before and after eating -- and after using the restroom. Bacterial spores cannot be easily killed, but they are effectively washed off with soap and water. In cases where spores are a concern (Clostridioides difficile is a big one), then handwashing is essential, as alcohol is ineffective.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

It's the Little Expenses That Add Up

"But it's only ..." is a phrase I've come to dislike. It always involves money and people who don't understand living on reduced income.

"But it's only twenty dollars a month," said the one who was signing up for the new program at the rec center and trying to convince others to do the same. "But it's only an extra fifty dollars a month," said the one who was purchasing a package of extra TV cable channels and encouraging the rest of us to do the same. "But it's only ..." said the one who happily signed up for a year-long membership at a certain big box warehouse, until we stopped her in mid-phrase.

"But it's only" tends to add up when we calculate all the additional expenses that have come as a result of the increase in prices of, well, everything: rent, electricity, food, clothing, car insurance, movie tickets, prescription drugs, telephone service, pet food and veterinary care.

Seniors on limited income do the mental math each and every time they hear that phrase and consider the extra expense. When they add the new number to the previous number, they come to the reality: They will not make it through the month if they add new X to the previous total Y, because the increased total Z doesn't exist.

Here are two ways I've managed to shave some dollars off the amount that goes out each month.

The car insurance company gave me a hefty discount when I inquired about combining auto and homeowners insurance under one umbrella. The savings really added up, even though it meant leaving a company I'd been with for decades that did not offer a seniors discount.

I contacted every company I deal with, and three of them offer seniors discounts, which I'd never suspected. Sometimes all you have to do is ask.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Congratulations, Lamb. The end of the month brings good news in the workplace, thanks to all the efforts you've made to get your projects off the ground and running.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't let yourself be cowed into thinking that you're not up to the challenge you've taken on. Keep reinforcing your self-confidence. No one and nothing can stop you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Positive responses to a recent workplace move should give you the added assurance that you're on the right track. Celebrate the good news with family and/or friends.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) There's still a little emotional fuzziness you have to work through before you can feel really certain about your recent decisions. But you're on the right track. Stay with it!

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're tempted by an offer that seems close to what you've been looking for. But before you pounce on it, see if you can coax out some added perks to sweeten the deal.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Your efforts to settle a volatile situation should prove to be successful. Now could be a good time to analyze what might have created the problem in the first place.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A once-close associate reemerges with news that could cause you to reconsider a recent decision. But don't make a move before consulting a trusted adviser.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You might feel pressured to reveal a colleague's secret. But you can rely on your strong Scorpion sense of rectitude to help you continue to do the right thing.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A pesky situation is still creating problems. But you are moving ahead with it, and it should soon be successfully resolved in your favor.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A spate of indecision leaves you susceptible to doubt. But you'll soon regain your emotional sure-footedness and be back leading the way as usual.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Love rules the week with new romances favored for single Aquarians looking for partners. Cupid also targets renewed commitment for wedded Water Bearers.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A surge of creativity keeps you happily busy through the week. But set aside some quiet time to share with loved ones. Some long-awaited news finally comes through.

BORN THIS WEEK: People rely on you whenever they need someone they can trust to be caring, considerate and also discreet.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD – Are you ready for the battle of the Frankenstein movies? On the heels of the comedy-horror film “Lisa Frankenstein,” which opened dismally on Feb. 9 and starred “Riverdale’s” Cole Sprouse as Frankenstein’s Monster, it’s been announced that Guillermo del Toro has chosen Jacob Elordi as his Monster. No doubt Elordi’s 6-foot-5-inch frame fits right into the makeup of the creature. Meanwhile, Oscar Isaac is playing Victor Frankenstein.

There’s also a third film in the works, directed by Maggie Gyllenhaal, with Academy Award winner Christian Bale as Frankenstein’s Monster. It also stars Annette Bening, Penelope Cruz and Peter Sarsgaard. This one’s set in 1930s Chicago and focuses on a search for bones that will lead to the creation of the reanimated Bride. This will make it more like the 1935 film “The Bride of Frankenstein,” starring Boris Karloff as the Monster and Elsa Lanchester as the Bride. Originally, it was being made by Netflix, but they dropped it when they opted for del Toro’s film instead. Fortunately, Warners picked up Gyllenhaal’s sophomore film.

Sylvester Stallone has named his heir to...Rambo! Apparently, “Sly” met Ryan Gosling at a dinner party, and Gosling told him, “I was fascinated by Rambo, and I used to go to school dressed as Rambo and people chased me away and I still didn’t stop.” Stallone was so touched that he offered, “If I ever pass the baton, I’ll pass it on to him because he loves the character.” He also confessed, “Obviously we are opposites. He’s good looking. I’m not. Seriously! Could you imagine me as Ken? It doesn’t work at all.”

Stallone has made five “Rambo” films and presumably said goodbye to the franchise with 2019’s “Rambo: Last Blood.” But don’t think for a minute that Stallone is slowing down. He’s currently shooting “The Epiphany,” in which he plays a hard-nosed, soon-to-retire police detective who teams up with a younger cop and former priest to stop a serial killer in Philadelphia.

His Netflix series “Tulsa King,” in which he plays a Mafia don, has been renewed for a second season and co-stars his daughter Scarlett Rose Stallone.

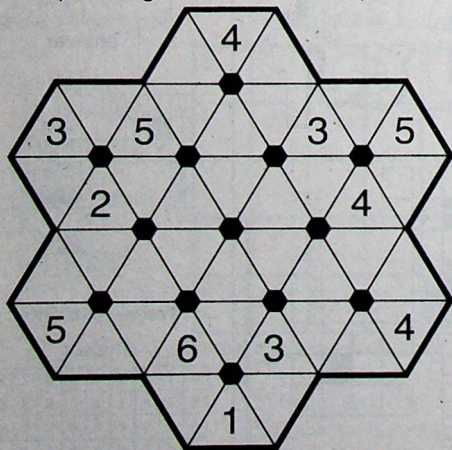

Disney’s newest headache is the soon-to-be-released $800,000 Canadian comedy-horror film “Mickey’s Mouse Trap,” due sometime in March. While Walt Disney directed the 1928 short film “Steamboat Willie” (the early incarnation of Mickey Mouse that started it all), it entered the public domain on Jan. 1. No one could have imagined someone would make a film about a group of friends who get trapped in an amusement arcade after closing time and get terrorized by a killer in a Mickey Mouse costume. While he doesn’t look exactly like our Mickey Mouse today, it’s close enough. There’s a louse ripping off the “Mouse House!”

Gothic Revival — Despite the technological and manufacturing advancements of the 19th century, many artists of the time looked to the past for inspiration. Visual artists developed the Pre-Raphaelite style. Architecture and decorative arts had the Gothic Revival.

While it started earlier in England, the Gothic Revival lasted from about 1840 until 1860 in America. Buildings and furniture were decorated with towers, pointed arches, tracery and other features borrowed from medieval castles and cathedrals.

Of course, imitating medieval style didn’t mean sticking to medieval technology. Homes in the Middle Ages would have been heated by hearths, but the Victorian era had more efficient and effective ways.

Cast-iron stoves were being made about 1728, and cast iron became popular for furniture in the mid-1800s. This box-shaped Victorian wood stove sold at a Conestoga auction for $354. The designs embossed on its front, back and sides show the decorative potential for cast iron and provide an example of Gothic Revival style. There is a row of pointed arches, also known as the Gothic arch, on each side. As arguably the most distinctive feature of Gothic architecture, this arch was often incorporated into Gothic Revival designs.

Q: My kids all have character lunch boxes. When I was in elementary school, everyone had lunch boxes with their favorite cartoon character, movie or band. When did they start making these and are old ones valuable?

A: The first character lunch box was made in 1950 when one was marketed with the cowboy movie star Hopalong Cassidy. The fictional hero walked with a limp in books, movies and television. Aladdin Industries was the first company to produce a lunch box and thermos with a licensed character. More than 60,000 Hopalong Cassidy lunch boxes were sold in the first year, starting the character lunch box craze that continues to this day. Vintage metal lunch boxes recently have been selling for $200 to $775.

Strange BUT TRUE

- Andrew Jackson’s parrot was kicked out of his funeral for swearing.
- In 1947, The New York Times opined that “the pizza could be as popular a snack as the hamburger if Americans only knew more about it.”
- Buzz Aldrin’s mother’s maiden name was Moon.
- When pirate Richard Worley, captain of the New York’s Revenge, captured his second ship, he named it the New York Revenge’s Revenge.
- Wisconsin is known as the Badger State because the area’s lead miners used to spend winters in tunnels burrowed into hills – like badgers.
- Jim Carrey was the first actor to have three number one movies in one year.
- The Palais Ideal in France was built entirely of stones that a postman named Ferdinand Cheval picked up on his mail route.
- Honey hunters in Mozambique use special calls to recruit the services of birds known as honeyguides. The birds lead the humans to bees’ nests, and in return, they get the leftover beeswax.

- In 1964, a pre-fame 17-year-old David Bowie was interviewed on the BBC program “Tonight” as the founder of The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Long-Haired Men.
- Thomas Edison nicknamed two of his kids Dot and Dash after the Morse code signals.
- Army ants that misinterpret the scent trails left by other ants will sometimes break from the crowd and march in circles. If enough ants join them, they can form massive “death spirals.”
- John Quincy Adams was an avid skinny-dipper who included dips in the Potomac River as a regular part of his exercise regimen.
- Crayola came from the words for “oily chalk.”
- The U.S. Senate’s Rule XIX states that U.S. senators cannot insult their colleagues.

Now here’s a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

- Use a muffin pan to make cookie cups for ice cream or fruit. Just flip your muffin pan over, and press dough over the upturned wells. It will puff up a little, but once it settles, they make very nice bowls. I do this with pizza dough as well. Prebake for a few minutes to form the bowl, then fill with ingredients and complete baking.
- If you can put a tension rod in the cabinet under your sink, you can use it to hang spray bottles for extra storage. It’s amazing how much space clears up, and it’s easy to find the bottle you need.
- Got popcorn? For a healthier (and much less expensive) version, go old-school: Put popping corn kernels in a regular brown paper bag, seal the bag, then microwave.
- “Bread tags (the little plastic clips that hold bread bags closed) make great cord organizers when you are using a multiple outlet power strip. Write the kind of device (e.g.

TV, Xbox, cable box) on the tag, then clip it to the plug end of the cord. When you need to unplug, it’ll be easy to see which is which.” – C.C. in Ohio

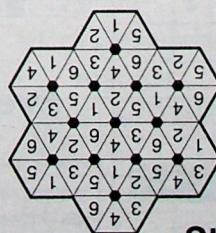

- Travel a lot? Make use of those shower caps by pairing up shoes and using the shower cap to hold them together while simultaneously protecting your clothes from the shoe bottoms. Smart!
- “I make plenty of cupcakes for my children’s various events, but I kept having unreturned cupcake carriers. Those things are expensive! I make my own now, using a box lid. The lids for paper cartons work really well. Cut a cross into the lid top with a razor or carpet knife, and press down. Make it the size of a cupcake. Insert cupcakes and go.” – A.R. in Georgia

Q: Is it true that next season's mystery on "Only Murders in the Building" will be set in Los Angeles instead of New York? I love the old apartment building they live in on the show. It won't be the same if it's in California. — D.D.

A: I agree, but apparently only part of the season will be filmed in LA. According to TVLine, Craig Erwich, who oversees Hulu, loves the Big Apple but doesn't want the show to become too insular. However, he assures fans that the Arconia apartment building will always be part of the show.

Season three ended with Oliver's (Martin Short) girlfriend, Loretta (Meryl Streep), moving back to LA, and it's been confirmed that Streep will return for the new season. Joining them will be Charles (Steve Martin) and Mabel (Selena Gomez), who I'm assuming will tag along to LA to escape the seemingly cursed Arconia after last season ended with a cliff-hanging murder. Jane Lynch is also expected to return in some capacity as Charles' stunt double.

The announcement of two more big names joining the cast should help alleviate the disappointment of those who aren't pleased with the change of scenery. Molly Shannon ("The Other Two") will play a high-powered businesswoman, and Eva Longoria ("Desperate Housewives") will also recur. No details have been given yet about her character. ***

Q: When is "Yellowstone" returning with new episodes? Is it true that Kevin Costner has left the show? — K.S.

A: The wildly successful series "Yellowstone" will return with six final episodes, beginning this November, but it probably will not include Costner. The Dutton family story will continue with the focus remaining on Rip (Cole Hauser) and Beth (Kelly Reilly). Costner parted ways with the show and its creator Taylor Sheridan when a contract couldn't be agreed upon. Sheridan has a spin-off in the works titled "2024," but no further details have been announced (including whether it will star Matthew McConaughey, as rumored).

As for Costner, he recently released the trailer for his upcoming Civil War-era films, titled "Horizon: An American Saga," which will be released in two parts this June and August. Costner not only directs but stars in "Horizon," along with Sienna Miller and Sam Worthington. He said that he hasn't "felt this way about a movie since...making 'Dances with Wolves,'" which was the Oscar-winning film he also pulled double duty with back in 1990. ***

Q: What happened to the

Meryl Streep in "Only Murders in the Building"

Patrick Harbron/Hulu

boxer on the new season of "The Traitors?" I don't recall him being voted out, and now he's gone. — A.M.

A: Former World Boxing heavyweight champion Deontay Wilder was one of only two contestants on Peacock's "The Traitors" who didn't have reality show experience. He told the press that he chose to leave after three episodes because the show was bringing up emotional trauma from his childhood that caught him off-guard. The final straw was when he accused another innocent contestant of traitorous behavior. Wilder exited with his conscience intact.

Leveling Up: Walking With Multiple Dogs

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I walk my neighbors' dogs every day after school. It takes time because I have to walk one dog at a time, then go to the next house, and then the third one. I'd like to make this job a little more efficient by walking all three dogs at the same time. What's the best way to do this? – Colin R., Smyrna, Georgia

DEAR COLIN: I can see your dilemma! Walking three dogs separately takes at least one hour, probably two, when you add in the time spent accessing each home, leashing up the dogs and unleashing. It is possible to walk all three dogs at once, but you have to do two important things first: One, get permission from each neighbor to walk the dogs together, and two, make sure the dogs will get along before you commit.

You may be able to only walk two of them together and the third one alone. And if the neighbors don't agree, then you're stuck walking all three separately.

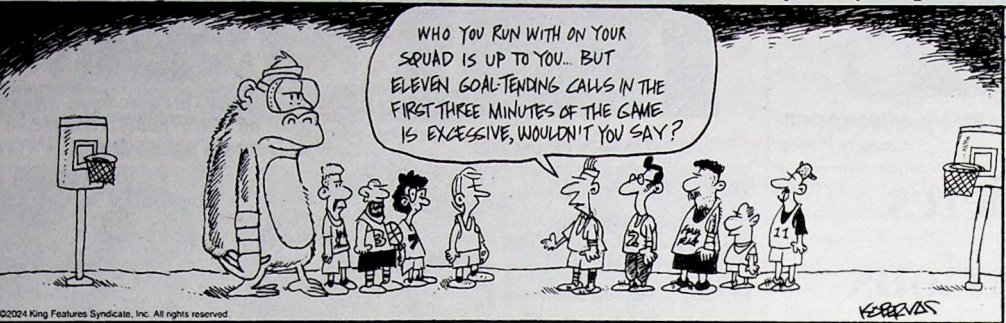

If you do get permission to walk them together, do it on a trial basis. Here are a few tips from professional dog walkers:

- Don't use retractable leashes when walking multiple dogs. You need full control at all times.
- Leashes can easily get tangled; hold two in one hand and one in the other, or buy a 3-way leash coupler to minimize tangles.
- If one or more dogs gets aggressive or bullying, walk them separately to prevent the problem from getting worse.
- Avoid walking them in areas where a lot of other dogs are present. If all three bolt toward another dog, you may not be able to hang on to them.

SOPHIA EDWARDS' pentathlon score of 2,629 broke the North Quincy school record of 2,330 set in 2020 by Sarah Pillone.

Seven QNQ Athletes To Compete In Various National Championships

Quincy-North Quincy track will send seven athletes including two relay teams and a hurdler to various National Championships next weekend.

Heading to the New Balance Nationals is a Sprint Medley Relay (legs consisting of 200m-200m-400m-800m) and a 4 x 800m Relay. Sofija Slezas, Maddy McGillicuddy, Aluna Coogan-Coyne and Salma Boukhtam (in that order) will comprise the SMR, then the 4 x 800 will swap out Slezas for Junior Hannah Moriarty in the 4 x 8. Coogan-Coyne also qualified for the Mile and Boukhtam made it in the 800m.

Boukhtam recently committed to UMass-Amherst, Coogan-Coyne has committed to Holy Cross, Slezas is leaning toward Stonehill but has not announced yet.

Hurdler extraordinaire Jayden Francois will travel to New York City to the NIKE Nationals at the 168th Street Armory in the big Apple to compete in the 55m hurdles in the Emerging Elite Division. The New Balance event will shuttle between the Reggie Lewis Track & Athletic Center and THE TRACK at New Balance due to the latter facility hosting this year's NCAA Division I Indoor Nationals.

Coach Geoff Hennessy will also participate as part of the officiating crew in the high jump and pole vault at the Roxbury and Brighton campuses. This will be the second year for the girls. Due to the extra booking of the NCAA, New Balance dropped the Emerging Elite Division so the girls had to qualify at the more difficult time of 9:42 which they did at the MIAA Meet of Champions sneaking in with a 9:41.32. Slezas competed in the Emerging Elite 200m last year. This is Francois' first experience at the National stage. All have been Patriot League All Stars and State Divisional competitors. Francois plays football in the fall, McGillicuddy and Moriarty play soccer. Boukhtam and Coogan-Coyne run Cross Country. Slezas trained with Hennessy in the fall doing sprints and plyometrics.

The New Balance meet runs Thursday through Sunday and NIKE is on Saturday and Sunday. The girls will compete Friday and Sunday. The girls also competed in last year's Outdoor Nationals in Philadelphia at historic Franklin field, home to UPenn and the world renowned Penn Relays.

4 X 800: Hannah Moriarty, Salma Boukhtam, Maddy McGillicuddy and Aluna Coogan-Coyne.

1. The 472-unit apartment complex on the border of Canton and Randolph, known as Prynne Hills, sold in October for $143,500,000.

The top sales appear to have been a combination of apartment complexes, retail, industrial and warehouse space, and distribution facilities.

"The industrial and commercial nature of these developments bodes well for the Norfolk County economy, both in terms of employment and revenue," O'Donnell said. "This also indicates that Norfolk County is not only a desirable place to both live and work but is also a magnet for business, industry, and trade."

Excise taxes mandated by state law from these 20 real estate sales totaled more than $4,639,206 for the state and county.

"Despite a slowdown in overall real estate activity throughout Norfolk County in 2023, there were still pockets of the market that saw significant growth and development, particularly in commercial real estate and rental property," O'Donnell noted.

In 2023, there were 8,192 property sales recorded in Norfolk County, down 20 percent compared to 2022. The average real estate sales price, which include commercial and residential property, was $1,083,609, down 8 percent from last year.

"With many observers of the market predicting mortgage interest rates to decrease in the first half of the upcoming year in 2024, we hope to see more robust real estate activity in 2024, with continued growth in commercial real estate, rental, and residential properties," O'Donnell said.

The Norfolk County Registry of Deeds, located at 649 High St., Dedham, is the principal office for real property in Norfolk County. The Registry is a resource for homeowners, title examiners, mortgage lenders, municipalities, and others with a need for secure, accurate, and accessible land record information.

All land record research information can be found on the Registry's website, www.norfolkdeeds.org.

MassDOT Urges Drivers To Put Phone Away When Traveling

The Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT), in partnership with the BLU AdLab, is urging drivers to put phones away and activate the “do not disturb” feature when traveling.

A public education effort is being announced, “mass DO NOT DISTURB,” in an effort to increase roadway safety and to mark the fourth anniversary of the Hands-Free Law. The law stipulates that no motor vehicle operator may use electronic devices while driving unless the technology is being used hands-free. This law took effect Feb. 23, 2020. The legislation, which adopts recommendations from the Commonwealth’s Strategic Highway Safety Plan, also sets forth penalties for violating the law and requires that law enforcement officers report data on violations so the information can be shared with the public.

“MassDOT is proud to announce our partnership with the BU AdLab for the mass DO NOT DISTURB campaign,” said MassDOT

Secretary and CEO Monica Tibbitts-Nutt. “MassDOT is committed to a future without roadway deaths and raising awareness about the dangers of distracted driving is an important step towards that goal.”

“Despite the passage of the Hands-Free Law, distracted driving remains a top cause of fatal accidents,” said Highway Administrator Jonathan Gulliver. “This campaign will remind drivers of the importance of keeping hands on the wheel and eyes on the road.”

The Hands-Free Law aims to reduce distracted driving and prevent crashes involving distracted drivers. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 3,522 people were killed, including 644 nonoccupants such as pedestrians or cyclists, and over 360,000 people were injured in crashes involving a distracted driver. Sending or receiving a text takes a driver’s eyes off the road for an average of 5 seconds, which at 55 mph is equivalent to driving the length of a football field with closed eyes.

Since the Hands-Free Law went into effect on February 23, 2020, an increasing number of citations have been issued. In 2020, almost 30,000 citations were issued for distracted driving. Since 2020, the number of distracted driving citations has risen year after year, with nearly 54,000 citations being issued in 2023.

Under the Hands-Free Law, titled An Act requiring the hands-free use of mobile telephones while driving, operators of motor vehicles cannot use an electronic device unless the device is being used in hands-free mode. Operators cannot read or view text or look at images or videos unless what is being viewed on the device helps with navigation and the device is mounted in an appropriate location.

Drivers also cannot make phone calls unless they can do so without holding the phone and utilizing technology such as Bluetooth. The Hands-Free Law permits using electronic devices if they are being used in response to an emergency, which is necessary for first responders to do their jobs. It also permits use if operators are stationary and not in active travel lanes.

Punishment for violating the Hands-Free Law includes a $100 fine for a first offense, a $250 fine for a second offense, and a $500 fine for a third or subsequent offense. A third or subsequent offense will count as a surchargeable incident. Operators who commit a second or subsequent offense are required to complete an educational program focused on distracted driving prevention.
